†When using Phoenix FSDPI03.

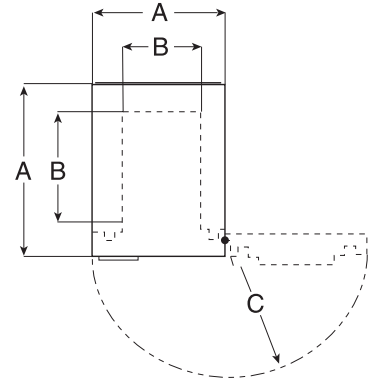

Fire strikes without warning! To combat this ever-present threat, Phoenix Safe Co Ltd has provided the ultimate in protection for irreplaceable company records and documents. In a furnace test, with the fire at an incredible 1122°C, the Phoenix Fire Commander safely protected its contents for over 3 hours!

In addition, our engineers have produced not only the finest ever protection against fire, but the cupboard is attractively designed. This pleasing design disguises a safe of colossal strength, which can withstand the crushing pressures of a building collapsing upon it during a fire.

The safe is locked with a user friendly, but high security digital electronic lock. The lock allows the user to programme their own personal code of easily remembered numbers, up to a maximum of 16 digits. The single door models FS1901E and FS1902E also have the advantage of a "slam action" automatic locking mechanism for emergency use.

The large capacity of the FS1900E Series with internal capacities from 163 litres to a staggering 699 litres, is fitted with adjustable full width shelves and either one or two lockable steel drawer units.

The FSDPI03 is available as an option on FS1902E and FS1903E. This media container is necessary should you wish to store data, as data has a low critical temperature of 52°C. All data requires extra protection against not only heat, but water, airborne debris, humidity, toxic gases, superheated steam and smoke, all of which are always present during a fire. This sealed container ensures that the Phoenix Fire Commander FS1900E Series can successfully protect every type of document, whether it be in the form of paper records or data against even the most hazardous and damaging of fires.
